Why not make a clean Brest of it, anyway?

For one who doesn't know anything about it, we say get out the sap buckets.

Enrico Caruso, famous tenor, pays an income tax of $153,933.70. There are no throaty qualities about that.

Barre welcomes the automobile men to-day to one of the liveliest automobile cities in northern New England.

With the Grand Trunk in the hands of a receiver, there is some reason to wonder what is to become of the branches like the Central Vermont.

The Vermont Senate, having found that it can hold a Saturday session to some advantage, perhaps the whole legislature will see fit to stay in Montpelier next Saturday.

George Creel, publicity agent of the United States, is going to join that almost innumerable throng which is retiring to "private life." He'll drop in without starting a ripple.

It's going to be depressing if the country, having gone through a war, is to be subjected to the terrible features of a wordy clash between Jack Johnson, Has-been, and Jess Willard, Once Was.

Prof. Appelmann, formerly of the University of Vermont, has popped up again and right where he might have been expected to appear—in close association with German propaganda work among Americans, this time in the American army of occupation on the Rhine.

A correspondent writing in the Brattleboro Reformer complains because the Brattleboro stores, as a rule, do not open until 8 o'clock in the morning; and he closes with the observation that "Possibly the men may have to do the housework. If such is the case, God help them." Merely stating in passing that stores in most live towns begin their day's business at 7 a. m., we make the suggestion that the women take the keys while their husbands are snoring and go downtown and open the store doors.

The editorial writer in the Los Angeles Times who spreads a column of regrets that he cannot enjoy one old-fashioned sugar-making season in Vermont forgets his dates when he says that the maple sugar harvest in Vermont comes in February and March. Almost never is maple sugar made in February, and the sap does not generally get started on the run until the middle of March. Therefore, it would have been more accurate for him to say that the maple sugar harvest in Vermont comes in March and April.

If the alleged assault by American soldiers of the Japanese consul at Tien Tsin should be proven true, the United States government must, of course, take prompt action to punish the offenders and make apology to Japan, but if the incident in which the Americans are said to have "attacked" all the Japanese in sight in Tien Tsin should prove to be nothing more than a form of American hazing introduced into the Orient there will probably be nothing to follow. Possibly the Orientals do not understand the

Don't lose sleep because of an itching skin
 will make it well

How can you expect to sleep tonight unless you do something to relieve the trouble? Eczema and other itching skin troubles don't often heal themselves. But it is surprising how quickly Resinol does heal them. Almost daily we hear from skin-sufferers who say, "Resinol stopped my itching at once and I got the first good night's sleep I had had in weeks. Now my skin is well." At all druggists.

American methods and, it is possible, too, that they will object to the introduction of American methods in the far East. Here in the United States we call it hazing.

DOUBLING UP ON HEALTH OFFICERS' WORK.

If there is to be a district health officer system in Vermont instead of the present plan of having a health officer for every community of sufficient size to support an official of that sort, it should follow, of course, that the cities of the state should constitute districts in and of themselves. For instance, Barre ought to have a health officer of its own and Montpelier ought to have an officer of its own, with each having jurisdiction, perhaps, over some of the outlying communities. These two cities are of such size and the requirements of the situations are such that they should not be placed in the same group because it would probably be impossible for one official to carry on the work efficiently; but one health officer in each community might be able to cover some of the outlying districts without subjecting the public health of the communities to jeopardy. In that case the cost of supporting the officer would be borne pro rata in order to make the burden fall equitably. An arrangement of that sort might be made to work out as well as the system of superintending the public schools, although in the latter case Barre's school system is so large that it takes the time of one man exclusively to attend to the work. We would not want to make the mistake of overloading one health officer and thus impair the efficiency of the system.

WILLIAMSTOWN

On last Tuesday afternoon occurred the every-member canvass of the Methodist church. In the evening about 50 members of the church and parish gathered at the vestry, where they did full justice to the supper furnished by the ladies. Later in the evening reports were given by the canvassers, followed by an informal discussion along lines related to the welfare of the church.

Mrs. Hattie Sivright is gaining steadily at the Barre City hospital and is now able to sit up two hours daily.

An item in an exchange states that William Duffus, oldest son of John Duffus, a former resident, is one of the faculty of Lawrence university, Kansas. His brother, Robert, is on the editorial staff of the Call, San Francisco, Cal., and that the daughter, Marjorie, now Mrs. Samuel Bryan, is a resident of Washington, D. C. The children, when in town, lived in the small white house belonging to George Beckett, and were pupils of the village school.

Congregational church, Sunday, March 16—Usual morning service at 10:45. Sermon subject, "Jesus Yesterday and Today." Sunday school at noon. Union service in the Methodist church in the evening. Christian Endeavor meeting on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Clarence Moulton, who has been at work for J. J. Dasher on the farm formerly owned by David Smith the past winter, is moving back to his house near Adna Downs.

Why is the Christian church all divided into denominations? By Evangelist F. S. Hartwell at Old Fellows hall Sunday afternoon, March 16, at 2:30. Free. Interesting. Gospel lecture.

Our Made-to-Order Department

True style tailoring for men who want custom fit. Suitings for spring wear are now here for your selection, and we earnestly recommend an early examination, as this department is very popular with the younger men of Barre, who prefer a made-to-measure suit, built specially for them, from materials of their own selection.
